The Fake Politics of Donald Blumpf: Persecution of Whites Didn’t End Under Republicans, It Won’t Get “Worse” Under Democrats

tonyodarg.wordpress.com/2020/11/07/the-fake-politics-of-donald-blumpf

Tony Odarg November 7, 2020

Many arguments about the necessity to vote for Republicans and by extension Trump I hear coming from the dissident right. Much of this is in fact a different form of Democrats Are The Real Racists© without a distinction. The argument goes like this: Trump may have betrayed us and some or all Republicans may be awful, but if the Democrats get in control, they will throw White people in gulags, make us a minority tomorrow, throw us off social media and generally persecute White dissidents. At least Trump and republican won’t do that. And all I have to say to that is: What the fuck are you talking about? Democrats have historically been the party of immigration restriction. Even if immigration were to go to net zero, demographics is still against our people.

All the online censorship has happened under Trump, not under Democrats. The left has become even more radical under Trump and he has done nothing about it. Things like MeToo, wokeness and systemic racism were never heard of before Trump. Trump throw James Fields in prison forever. Trump’s federal goons have been hounding White men IRL and online, trying to entrap them. Black men killed the police have sparked riots, looting and murders at unprecedented scale, while Trump sat back and tweeted. Defunding the police, abolishing prisons and endless posting about lowest black unemployment ever happened all under Trump, at least rhetorically.

More non-Whites and LGBTQ weirdos have been elected under Trump than ever before. The mainstream media has never hated a president more, if Russiagate and impeachment are any indication. Trump supporters have been attacked and thrown in jail for self-defense with zero help from Trump. Self-defense while White is all but illegal in America, and committing crime while black or self-hating White is now perfectly acceptable. Trump has done nothing to stop it. Trump appointed warmongering corporate swamp creatures to his cabinet. He put his kike son in law in charge of immigration and made Israel our greatest ally. Trump mismanaged Covid so bad it made kindergartners eating their buggers look like scientists. Trump ran as a populist and governed worse than a centrist. Homosexuality has been normalized on the left and diverse identity politics voter outreach has become the go to line when conservatives are attacked as racist. Of course, White men never get the time of day.

We've seen the rise of complete buffoons who no one even knew about before Trump was elected, including Steven Crowder, Ben Shapiro, Charlie Kirk, Nick Fuentes and Tucker Carlson. All these moronic cretons have successfully channeled White angst into Jeb! Bush policies: tax cuts for billionaires, meaningless deregulation, corporate trade deals, environmental harm, income equality, privatizing everything and on and on. But the worse of all is that the proof is the in the pudding: Trump gained votes in every demographic group in 2020, but lost White men and therefore the election. No, Democrats are not our enemy, because at least they don't lie to you about their plans to commit full blown White genocide. Republicans mask their White genocide in concern for the markets and the Middle Eastern goblin people they're obsessed with.

In conclusion, the solution to our problems will not be found in a political system that is dedicated to our genocide. It will be found when we all stop being weak little faggots and build our own institutions. And that's easier said than done, to say the least. But will you really be able to proudly look at your grandchildren in the future and tell them: yeah, we're now a minority and are worse off than White Afrikaners, but hey, at least I voted for the lesser of two evils!!

PS: Let me add an addendum from Richard Spencer about the end of Trump's fake politics:

> The “Fake Politics” that Donald Trump embodied is coming to an end . . . the lie, told to average White Americans and dissidents alike, that we held power and were defeating our enemies through the antics of this buffoon is slowly being revealed for what it always was.
>
> Now is the time for both meta-politics and real-politics. By meta-politics I mean what we believe and how we understand the world. This effort was largely squashed during the Trump episode. Critical inquiry was silenced out of feat that we might be undermining Trump’s agenda, the joys of “lib owning,” and “the plan,” which was taking place in secret.
>
> Real politics must also begin in the sense of discerning what we can actually accomplish, in our limited capacity, from the political system as it is.Under Trump, “populist” policies were discussed only in the frame of the GOP “winning the working class.” I’m not interested in giving electoral advice to moribund conservatives—particularly advice they don’t have the ears to hear.
>
> There are real questions to address regarding how working- and middle-class Whites can benefit from an era of Democratic hegemony. Yes, there will be tons of “woke” garage, but Medicare for All, UBI, etc. are in the air, and they will likely become policies within the decade.Trump’s exit is the chance for a new beginning. I embrace it. I hope others will, too.

We all became afraid to criticize the dear leader for fear that would lead to his undermining. Perhaps his demise sooner rather than now would’ve been a good thing. But now, we have a chance to not only rethink our assumptions – our metapolitics – but also immediately help suffering Whites with paternalistic politics like UBI, Medicare for All or Student Debt Relief. No paternalism is coming from Republicans; they preside over the poorest states and the Whitest ones. Because they don’t care, they are more evil than the left in that regard. Down with the lesser of two evils, long live paternalism!

Links

Article: https://barelyablog.com/what-about-deep-techs-infractions-will-change-if-we-vote-republican/
Archive: https://archive.vn/zL4Le

Thread: https://twitter.com/RichardBSpencer/status/1321514171507167232
Archive: https://archive.vn/XBF4o

Free speech: https://twitter.com/IlanaMercer/status/1323069304674287616
Archive: https://archive.vn/98KIS

Fake politics: https://twitter.com/RichardBSpencer/status/1325168724500869120
Archive: https://archive.vn/npd0E